Senate Kills Seizure Talk

Democrats Deny Showdown

Washington, June 23—(AP)—The Senate today rejected a move for a showdown on the issue of barring the president from seizing private property without the specific consent of Congress.

The vote was 42 to 32. Democrats voted almost solidly to sidetrack what might have touched off a long and bitter parliamentary battle over the question of White House seizure authority.

With three exceptions, Republicans voted to sidetrack the issue.

The vote came on a motion by Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.) for the Senate to take up his proposed constitutional amendment, originally introduced after President Truman seized the strike-threatened steel industry early in April. The Supreme court subsequently declared Truman's action illegal. The mills were returned to their owners and the CIO Steelworkers went on strike.

McCarran's proposed amendment consists of a single sentence declaring:

"The executive power of the United States shall not be construed to extend at any time to any taking of private property other than in a manner prescribed by act of Congress."

McCarran says it is designed to eliminate any doubt over the inherent powers Truman claimed in seizing the steel mills.

Truman Labels Proposed Slash 'Terrible Disaster'

Washington, June 23—(AP)—President Truman today told the Senate that a proposed move to slash 50 per cent off a $2,758,000,000 bill for the construction of secret overseas air bases and other military facilities would be a "terrible disaster."

Truman wrote Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services committee protesting any such reduction and urging him to "guard against such a dangerous course."

The legislation was passed by the House June 12 and is now under consideration by Russell's committee before going to the Senate floor. Among other things, it would authorize the secretary of the air force to spend $1,133,938,000—or roughly half of the total—to carry on the work of building secret U. S. bomber bases in the Middle East and elsewhere around the perimeter of Soviet Russia.

In his letter, the president said he was "disturbed very greatly" by reports that Russell's committee was considering a 50 per cent cut in the House-approved measure.

STEVENSON 'RELAXED' AFTER OPERATION

Chicago, June 23—(AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois rested in Passavant hospital today after an operation for removal of a kidney stone.

"He's getting along fine," a spokesman for the hospital reported.

One of the governor's aides said his release has been set tentatively for 11:30 a. m. Tuesday.

A small stone was removed from the tube between the kidneys and the bladder under local anesthetic Sunday.

The governor's mail was brought to his room today. He was sitting up in bed at the time and commented that he was "pretty relaxed."

Indiana Set To Vote For Stevenson

Indianapolis, June 23—(AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee said today a "substantial" number of Indiana's 30 delegates will vote for him for the Democratic presidential nomination if Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois does not seek it.

Indiana's delegates were to be chosen tonight and tomorrow in state convention meetings. They are expected to go unopposed to the national convention. State party leaders say nearly all delegates will favor Stevenson.

Kefauver, personally seeking Hoosier support, spent six hours shaking hands with Democrats in a sweltering hotel suite before leaving for New York in mid-afternoon.

Democratic Gov. Henry F. Schacter of Indiana, who will be nominated tomorrow to oppose Republican Sen. William E. Jenner for the Senate seat Jenner has held since 1945, is an outspoken supporter of Stevenson for president.

The newly reorganized Indiana Democratic state committee on May 17 strongly advocated Stevenson for president, urged him to run, and promised him active Hoosier support.

Rosenberg, Called A Red, Won't Talk In Investigation

Washington, June 23—(AP)—Allan R. Rosenberg, a former government attorney, refused today to answer a series of questions about his associations with persons against whom Communist charges have been made.

"I have committed no crime," Rosenberg told the House un-American activities committee.

"I have not been an agent of a foreign government. I have not violated the espionage act."

Beyond this, Rosenberg refused to go. He declined to say whether he has ever been a Communist or to answer other questions on the ground that he might tend to incriminate himself.

Rosenberg has been named by Elizabeth Bentley, a self-confessed courier for Russian spies during World War II, as a member of a group which she said fed her information about the American government.

Rep. Walter (D-Pa.) told Rosenberg he now had "an excellent opportunity to affirm or deny that testimony," but the witness remained silent.

Rosenberg, 43, now is practicing law in Watertown, Mass.

Cheaper Prices For Meat Seen

Chicago, June 23—(AP)—The American Meat Institute said today the downward trend in wholesale meat prices may soon be reflected in "more attractive" prices to the consumer.

The institute said it based its prediction on the increased production of beef now being offered by wholesalers at below OPS ceiling prices.

"Last week," the institute said in a statement, "federally inspected meat packers produced about 141 million pounds of beef. In the same week of last year they were able to produce only 105.1 million."

Because of the increased supply, the institute said, the price of a pound of dressed beef and veal at Chicago has dropped one to six cents a pound, the statement said.

OPS "FREES" ARMORED CAR CHARGES

Washington, June 23—(AP)—The government today took controls off the prices of armored cars, companies can charge for transporting and guarding money.

The Office of Price Stabilization said lifting these controls will have "little or no significance in the cost-of-living."

ACHESON TO LONDON

London, June 23—(AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson arrived here today for talks with the British and French foreign ministers on world problems affecting the three western allies.

Acheson and his wife flew here in President Truman's plane, the Independence.

In the glassware business, "hand-blown" is an expression meaning blown by human lungs.

Air Force Reports Victory In Korea

Tokyo, June 23—(AP)—The Air Force summed up two years war in Korea today with the announcement that allied land based planes have killed or wounded 176,000 Communist soldiers.

The U. S. Air Force, shore-based U. S. Marine planes, the Republic of Korea Air Force, and the attached Australian and South African fighter squadrons have launched 509,935 sorties (individual flights).

The summary does not include the massive air effort of the carrier planes from the American and British navies.

As announced last week, the Air Force claims a grand total of 510 Red planes definitely destroyed—361 of them MIG-fifteen jet fighters—out of a total of 1,221 hit. The bulk of these were knocked down in air fighting, although some were destroyed on the ground.

The Air Force says a total of 707 allied planes—minus Navy carrier planes—have been lost in action. The advantage to the Reds in losses because the Communists rarely expose their planes to allied ground fire.

Political Review

Aides Declare Ike Is Now On His Own

Denver, June 23—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower moved into full command of his presidential campaign today—and his close advisors admit a major mistake was made in not letting the general run his own show earlier.

"Ike has taken over in his own way," a member of his official family said, "and he's making the decisions."

Eisenhower has become his own speech writer. He has tossed out set, prepared speeches written by others. Beginning with Detroit, the general took command. That was the turning point.

The general decided to throw out the prepared speeches and he himself—say and do things in his own way and if that wasn't good enough, it was just too bad.

His advisors were jittery about this decision. But reaction generally was so much better than after Abilene, they agreed the general knew what he was doing.

"The Texas speech was all Eisenhower," one lieutenant said. "And the speech on foreign policy tonight was his own."

There aren't many days left before the G.O.P. national convention in Chicago July 7, but the people around Eisenhower hope within that time he will get a prairie fire of sentiment going his way—by being himself and speaking his mind.

Still, there is little evidence of any long-range planning having been adopted that will carry the Eisenhower program up to the convention. The only major event agreed upon is a speech here Thursday.

New York Harbor Greets New Liner, The United States

New York, June 23—(AP)—New York harbor roared a record welcome today to the spanking new liner United States, an American princess who soon may become queen of the seas.

The 53,500-ton ship—biggest ever built in this country and third largest passenger vessel in the world—ended a 500 mile shake-down cruise from Newport News, Va., where she was built.

She is given a good chance of breaking the transatlantic speed record, perhaps on her maiden voyage next week.

The United States is this nation's candidate for the mythical blue ribbon of the north Atlantic, the speed record held since 1938 by the British Cunard Lines' Queen Mary.

Only the Queen Mary at 81,235 tons and her sister ship, the Queen Elizabeth at 83,673 tons are larger than the 990-foot U. S. Lines new flagship.

The Mary set the North Atlantic speed record 14 years ago by crossing 3,120 miles from Ambrose light in this country to Bishop's Rock off England. She made it in three days, 20 hours and 42 minutes. Her best day's run was an average of 32.08 knots.

The United States did better than that during a 30-minute burst of speed for the 1,300 guest passengers who came with her from Virginia. She hit 33 knots—about 38 miles an hour. She reportedly has gone even faster in tests.

MELODY MOVED HIM
Coos Bay, Ore., June 23—(AP)—"If that song is played again, I'm going to jump out the window," said James Lee Moffatt, 25, a mill worker, at a resort north of here last night.

The juke-box song was "Blue Monday," which someone promptly played again.

Moffatt jumped into a lake 20 feet below and drowned before rescuers could reach him.

THREE GUNMEN STEAL $10,000 IN CHICAGO
Chicago, June 23—(AP)—Three gunmen who were knifed today and covered by the Avondale Savings and Loan Association of more than $10,000 today.

The raiders—two carried sub-machine guns and the other a pistol and a blackjack—forced four employees and eight other persons to lie on the floor while they packed money into bags. Then they walked out a rear door and drove away.

The association is at 2965 Milwaukee, Ave. on the northwest side.

SPRINGFIELD DETECTIVE DIES
Springfield, Ill., June 23—(AP)—Conrad W. Jesberg, 68, chief of detectives in Springfield for 18 years until his retirement in 1948, collapsed and died today.

DAVID WARREN HANKS NOW 102 YEARS OLD
Davenport, Ia., June 23—(AP)—David Warren Hanks of Davenport, believed to be the oldest living relative of Abraham Lincoln, celebrated his 102nd birthday today.

Hanks, who said he is a second cousin of the famous Civil War president, told a small gathering of friends at the nursing home where he now resides that his formula for long life is "clean living."

Born in Whiteside county, Ill., the former Iowa school teacher says he can recall traveling to California with his father during the gold rush days of 1849. His memory of Lincoln, however, is limited to "what my father told me."

General Eisenhower Assails 'Isolationists'

Bowen Takes College Post At Williams

Champaign, Ill., June 23—(AP)—Howard R. Bowen, center of controversy when he was dean of the college of commerce at the University of Illinois, left the university today for Williams College in Massachusetts.

Bowen, who resigned Jan. 1, 1951, after a stormy career as dean for three years, had been employed since that time as a professor of economics at the school.

The announcement of his new position as professor of economics at the Williams College, Mass., school was made through the Illinois public information service.

Bowen himself is vacationing at Sturgeon Bay, Wis.

Bowen has been engaged for three years in the study of ethics and economic life under a grant of the Rockefeller Foundation. The foundation recently made a new grant of $125,000 to Bowen to continue his research at Williams.

The announcement said he also will act in as a consultant for various federal agencies at Williams. He starts his new post with the fall term.

Criticism of Bowen reached a climax in 1950 after Prof. Paul Blodgett of the economics faculty resigned to take a job at the University of Florida.

Opponents of Bowen in the university maintained Blodgett was forced out because his economics views differed from those of Bowen.

Blodgett at the time of his resignation described himself as a "free enterprise" man and Bowen as a "welfare state" man.

But today, Mrs. Phillips told police, she got the shock of her life when Weeks came to the rooming house. She said Weeks left, saying he would go to the police and straighten things out. When he didn't come forward, officers were sent out. Two of them spotted him walking on a east side street and picked him up after a short chase.

Police quoted Weeks as saying he knew nothing about the hotel room and "couldn't guess" who the dead man could be. The officers added that Weeks told him he was AWOL from Camp McCoy, Wis.

Joseph La Monte, deputy county medical examiner, said the body of the dead "Weeks" would be exhumed in an attempt to make proper identification.

Idaho Woman Fasts To Regain Hearing
Osburn, Idaho, June 23—(AP)—A 55-year old, 185-pound woman went into her 17th day of a religious fast today in an effort to regain her hearing.

The woman, Mrs. Mabel Heminger, started losing her hearing 35 years ago and has been totally deaf for the last 10 years. She plans to fast and pray for 21 days.

Her husband said she has taken only water since beginning her fast and has lost about a pound a day. She doesn't feel hunger any more and the smell of food seems to nauseate her, he said. She spends most of the day now sleeping and praying.

Mrs. Heminger, a member of the Assembly of God church, started a fast about a month ago but gave it up after four days because of some trouble with her eyes.

Her husband said her general health was good enough last fall to permit her to give blood to the Red Cross.

Allied Planes Smash Yalu Electric Plants

Washington, June 23—(AP)—Defense authorities today described the big Allied air smash at power plants on the Yalu river as the beginning of a new "get tough" policy in the two-year-old Korean war.

These authorities called it a direct outgrowth of Communist stalling tactics in the long deadlocked truce talks.

"We now realize that the best chance for breaking the deadlock at Panmunjom is to hit the enemy with the force at our command," one official told newsmen.

The official, who asked his name withheld, said that previously the United Nations command thought it advisable to refrain from a strike at the Yalu Hydro-Electric works as long as Allied negotiators believed there was a reasonable chance of an early truce.

Air Force officers declined comment, but highly placed civilian defense authorities said the 500-plane blow was based on a military decision by Gen. Mark Clark and was carried out within existing directives.

Military informants said at least two earlier dates had been suggested for a big assault against the hitherto untouched electric power and irrigation system. Air units were alerted as early as last September for such an operation. Then, and again later last fall, the attack was called off for a combination of military and political reasons.

At that time the Allies held out considerable hope a second winter in Korea would convince the Communists that a reasonable truce should be arranged. Military, some air authorities feared that the Allies lacked sufficient strength in jet fighters and fighter bombers to undertake a major operational within sight of Red airfields on the Manchurian side of the Yalu.

Early in the Korean conflict, B-29 superforts attacked the Korean approach to several bridges leading to Manchuria and operated in the area of the big power dams. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, then supreme Far East commander, was told later to suspend such operations unless making their bombs run approaches without running the risk of flying over Chinese territory or inadvertently overshooting the Korean-Manchurian border with their bombs.

Peace can be achieved, the general said, only on achieving almost all our objectives. He listed these as: 1. Elimination of heavy casualties; 2. easing of the heavy tax load; 3. stemming inflation; 4. dispelling pessimism; and 5. giving all groups in America "the fruits of science, of education and production."

FARRIN APPOINTED BY STEVENSON

Springfield, Ill., June 23—(AP)—Governor Stevenson's office today announced appointment of Michael H. Farrin of Murphysboro, a special agent of the FBI since 1939, as an administrative assistant to the governor.

Farrin succeeds Ross Randolph, who recently was named warden of the state penitentiary at Pontiac.

For the last two years Farrin was resident agent in southern Illinois with headquarters in Murphysboro.

Man Buried In Milwaukee Still Alive

Milwaukee, June 23—(AP)—A first class mystery developed today when Milwaukee county authorities learned the wrong man was buried last week. The man buried was dead all right, but he wasn't James H. Weekes.

Weekes, 21, turned up today. Police now are trying to find out who the dead man was and solve the mystery surrounding his death.

It started last Wednesday when a man who registered as James H. Weekes was found dead in his downtown hotel room. The man apparently had died of an overdose of sleeping pills, authorities said.

Mrs. Charles J. Phillips, landlady at the rooming house where Weekes' mother lives, identified the body as that of Weekes. She said later her mother, Mrs. Eleanor Weekes, viewing the body in a funeral home, also said it was her son. "Weekes" was buried Saturday.

But today, Mrs. Phillips told police, she got the shock of her life when Weekes came to the rooming house. She said Weekes left, saying he would go to the police and straighten things out. When he didn't come forward, officers were sent out. Two of them spotted him walking on a east side street and picked him up after a short chase.

Police quoted Weekes as saying he knew nothing about the hotel room and "couldn't guess" who the dead man could be. The officers added that Weeks told him he was AWOL from Camp McCoy, Wis.

Joseph La Monte, deputy county medical examiner, said the body of the dead "Weekes" would be exhumed in an attempt to make proper identification.

THE SPIRIT OF THE FAIR

Jack Wise, president of the Morgan County Fair Association, struck a nostalgic chord when in announcing the sale of 1952 season tickets he said "fair time for many, many years was one of the most important and gayest of occasions in the life of every person in Morgan county."

Mr. Wise is exactly right! People used to take their fairs seriously. They considered it a civic obligation to attend and enter into the spirit of the event. The Morgan County Fair at one time had few rivals among the smaller expositions in Illinois.

In the old days people halted other activities to enjoy the fair. Business men shut up shop one or more days. Farm families marked the calendar in anticipation of thrilling, enjoyable days. The county fair was a "must" for Jacksonville residents. It held magnetic sway for several generations.

Then came the automobile age. There were many counter-attractions. County fairs which once attracted interested thousands withered and fell by the wayside. The Morgan county exposition was one of the temporary casualties.

Now the Morgan County Fair is back. Its spirit never died during the intervening years. The automobile, which may have contributed to the downfall of certain time-honored attractions, has been used to bring about the county fair revival. Through frequent auto races at the fair grounds a series of important improvements have been made possible.

The 1952 Morgan County Fair July 28, 29 and 30 has been streamlined. Its appeal has been widened. As in the old days citizens should take time off to enjoy the special events. That's what makes a fair—interest, public support. The rekindled spirit of the fair should burn brightly.

CHANGE OF PLATOONS

When Russia, during the last fortnight, announced new ambassadors being ordered to Washington, Peiping and Berlin, the news created little interest. Communist officials are reshuffled rather frequently lest their pristine Russianism be sullied by prolonged contact with insidious foreign ways.

Some of them become scapegoats for the mistakes of their inflexible superiors, others may be the victims of cryptic intra-Kremlin politics. Such matters create about as much stir as the selection of a new mayor of Minsk.

But when there is a fourth change in the Russian ambassadorship to a world capital, and when the new choice for ambassador to London is no less a person than Andrei A. Gromyko, it is time to do a double-take.

Gromyko is Soviet deputy foreign minister, and has been acting head of Russia's delegation to the United Nations during much of the postwar period. He was only 8 at the time of the bolshevik revolution in 1917, and only 15 when Lenin died. This makes him more dependable in Stalin's eyes than an old-timer like Vishinsky, who is in a better position to compare Lenin's promises with Stalin's performance.

Maxim Litvinoff, the most world-minded and pro-Western of all old bolshevik diplomats, was suddenly shifted from his League of Nations assignment in 1939, and the Hitler-Stalin pact stunned the world a few months later. People who missed the obvious implications of the Litvinoff move have been kicking themselves ever since, trying frantically to read the auguries every time another shift was made.

The Gromyko shift may be significant, too, but the auguries are not easy to read without benefit of hindsight. It seems clear, of course, that the growing influence of Aneurin Bevan in Britain is a development upon which Russia wants to capitalize. It may be unfair to call Bevan anti-American, but he wants to avoid antagonizing Russia, and generally to pursue a policy involving less cooperation with the United States.

Gromyko will make the most of any trouble-making opportunities Bevan gives him.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN TO ELMER?

BY HAL BOYLE

SANTA FE, N. M., (AP) — Elmer, New Mexico's most famous horned toad, is caught in a transcontinental tug-of-war.

He is being pulled northeastward by a group of Massachusetts school children who earnestly want him as a pet. He is being held firmly in place in his native Southwest by two New Mexico state statutes regarding horned toads.

Under these laws Elmer can't be exported. He is restricted from the broadening influence of travel by a kind of reverse tariff.

The whole question has the state government mildly concerned as no official in an election year wants to be caught failing to enforce even a statute designed only to keep a voteless horned toad on its home sands.

The issue arose when third grade pupils of the Davis School in West Newton, Mass., wrote and asked for a horned toad.

"What do you feed a horned toad?" they asked. "We will take very good care of it. We will pay the postage if you send it."

The inquiry passed through two channels of government to the Bureau of Business Research at the University of New Mexico. The bureau parried the query by writing back and telling the third graders that horned toads were out-of-season, that is, the weather wasn't warm enough for the harmless little lizards to crawl from their desert hideaways.

The determined Massachusetts kids immediately sent a letter say-

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON

NEA Staff Correspondent

Hollywood—(NEA)—"Production of short films for television for free home viewing by Hollywood's seven major studios can absorb 50 per cent of their operating costs, help build stars and increase theater attendance with fewer but better full-length feature movies."

Veteran Movie Producer Hal Roach crystal-balling the future of Hollywood on TV for me and predicting:

"Hollywood's major studios will be in the telefilm business within two years with advertisers and not the public footing the bills."

With the Roach studio already producing more than half of all the Hollywood telefilms on the air, Roach is a TV authority. As he sees it:

"Studios will cut down their overhead 50 per cent by producing 10 hours of telefilms for every 20 full-length movies. The telefilms will be 15-minute shorts with top stars and newcomers. The shorts will whet the public's appetite for the stars and new faces for full-length movies at theaters."

Roach's new telefilms, "The Children's Hour" and "The Dramatic Hour," each composed of separate 15-minute programs, are based on this theory. Says Roach: "It guarantees the life of a star on TV by keeping the public from time of seeing so much of him week after week."

Green Hornet Coming

Another radio favorite goes visual next month when the cameras turn on "The Green Hornet," starring Stephen Dunne as crusading, anti-crime sleuger Britt Reed with Trudy Marshall as his secretary.

Charles "Seventh Heaven" Farrell is facing a movie camera for the first time in 14 years—for "My Little Margie," a telefilm series with Gale Storm, which will replace "I Love Lucy" this summer—and saying:

"An all-out comeback? Could be. If the series clicks, and they want more, I guess I'll be in there hammering it up."

Farrell, who still looks like a leading man, retired to his Palm Springs Racquet Club 14 years ago and has been the mayor of Palm Springs for the last four. "My Little Margie" is about a lovenappy 21-year-old old and her gay-blade widower father who are always at odds over their romances.

The World Today

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Korean War is two years old Wednesday. No one any more in a responsible position is offering a quick solution for ending it. Nor is anyone predicting the outcome.

The invasion of South Korea by the North Korean Communists began like a stone dropped in a quiet pool. The ripples are still widening. And Russia, which watched like a fat fox may have outfoxed itself. And maybe not.

For a year the Korean War has been less than full-scale, although men have died daily. In this year of no ground offensives both sides have pecked away, holding positions, while their true intentions are in sight.

This country and its allies talk confidently of being able to stop anything the Chinese throw at them. They do not talk of crushing the Chinese.

Crushing China couldn't be done without far more men and supplies than the Allies have been willing to put into Korea, since they need them for defense against Russia in Europe in case Russia attacks there.

So Russia has the Allies guessing and has had from the beginning of the Korean shooting. But the shooting started far more than the Russians probably bargained for.

Korea was a starting point for the U. S. and U. N. The army program began in earnest. So did the Atlantic Pact. So did the rearming of Europe, the idea of a European army, the end of the war with Germany and the decision to let Germany join the European army.

Japan was allowed full sovereignty again, with freedom to rearm, while the U. S. was allowed to use Japan as a military base. The U. S. poured money and supplies into the war against communism in Indochina.

In short, two years ago Russia faced a completely divided and helpless Europe and a defenseless Asia. Europe still is far from ready for war with Russia but it has made progress in two years. And communism in Asia hasn't tried any new adventures in two years.

Count of Red and White Blood Cells Reveals Body Conditions

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

A. H. J. says, "We hear people say 'his blood count is low,' but what is that? Is it the red corpuscles? What is the normal blood count?"

Today, a complete medical examination almost always includes the removal of a small amount of blood and the testing of this blood in various ways for the three most common kinds of blood examination, namely, counting the red and white cells, and measuring the coloring matter, or hemoglobin.

Only a small amount of blood is necessary—usually a drop from the ear or finger is all that is needed. For other tests, larger amounts of course may be needed.

Mr. J. is undoubtedly correct when he suspects that saving the blood count is low probably refers to the number of red blood corpuscles.

There are about five million red cells in a measured small amount of blood called a cubic millimeter. There are about 7000 white cells in the same amount of blood. Both kinds of cells are counted under a

The MATURE PARENT

Don't Let a Talented Child Evade His Responsibilities

BY MURIEL LAWRENCE

She is a pretty, talented child of 15 who has been singing and dancing in public for some time. She is cheer leader for her high school athletic teams, and what with her boyfriends and entertaining dates, has to stay up late to get her school work done.

Her mother is worried over her nervous state whenever she has to face school tests and disturbed by the impatience of her daughter's teachers. "They do not understand that she needs love and admiration to do well," the mother writes.

My reader's worry is a healthy sign. It is time that her child began to learn how to perform without applause.

Schools are not established merely to teach algebra and history, but to help young people learn to do what they're told without the support of love and admiration.

Were the people responsible for the love and encouragement, not teachers. They are the people who prepare children to work for employers who are not fathers, mothers or admirers, but who just want jobs done. They serve as intermediaries between homes and the world where children must work for those whom they do not love and who do not love them.

We undervalue the real function of school experience when we think of it merely as education in algebra and history.

If I had a young daughter who found it impossible to be interested in any activity that did not bring her admiration and applause, I would crack down on those activities. I would explain why it is important to be active without the drug of flattery.

I would do this out of a personal conviction that intoxication induced by flattery impairs the true self-esteem of children. Unless we have such a conviction we may indeed be in a spot when our athletic hero sons and cheerleading daughters come home so drunk on applause that they can't put their minds on algebra and history.

If we are going to continue to expose adolescent children to the heavy doses of public applause from grandstands the way we do, we should see to it that they get loving and persistent instruction on the value of the noise made by hands beaten together.

We tend to neglect this. That is why in our society we have so many people who make careers of playing to grandstands long after the audience has found other shows to amuse and entertain it.

I am not suggesting that algebra or history are vital to the peace of talented children with aptitudes for dancing, Italian arias, violins, water colors or carrying the ball over the goal line. I am certainly suggesting that their attention to algebra or history is vital.

This attention is a responsibility. If it is not assumed, they are led to believe that their aptitudes excuse them from ordinary responsibilities, that they are entitled to evade any that is not connected with applause.

EDSON IN WASHINGTON

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington, (NEA)—The strategy of Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma in his race for the presidential nomination presents an interesting commentary on the Democratic party's internal situation.

At this writing Senator Kerr stands fifth in the number of pledged delegates on the official box score. But according to the Kerr school of political reasoning, the four men ahead of him have no chance of winning the nomination.

So he fancies himself the top man with a good chance to win the nomination, even if he is only fifth best right now.

This is a typical case showing how the political game affects candidates at this particular period of their affiliation. If political candidates couldn't kid themselves into believing that they could win against all odds, there wouldn't be any point in running.

The official listing of instructed delegates to the Democratic Convention now gives Senator Kefauver 246, Senator Russell 861, Averell Harriman 851, Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan 40, Senator Kerr 331, Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois who says he isn't even running, has 301, close behind Kerr in sixth place.

Of course this isn't the way the candidates will lineup on the first ballot at Chicago. Senator Kefauver and Senator Russell claim they will have over 300 apiece. What Averell Harriman will have is anybody's guess, but if by some miracle he should double his present pledge strength he would have 171.

BOSSSES WON'T LET KEFAUVER WIN OUT

According to the Kerr headquarters theory, the Democratic political bosses just won't allow Senator Kefauver to have the nomination. They are said to dislike him, even though he has shown an ability to run 160 delegates ahead of the field.

According to the same Kerr headquarters reports, Senator Russell can't get the nomination because he's too southern. Averell Harriman is figured to have no great popular appeal. Kerr definitely counts Stevenson out.

The 331 delegates that Senator Kerr has nailed down—for the first ballot, anyway—consists of 24 from his native state of Oklahoma, three from Nebraska, two from Kansas, one and a half from Idaho, one each in Maine and Montana and a half vote from Nevada and Montana.

This broad, eight-state representation leaves Senator Kerr with only 40 states in which to win the mere 583 delegates necessary for his securing the nomination.

Actually, Senator Kerr thinks he may have as many as 150 delegates on the first ballot. This might put him in fourth place, instead of fifth. In addition to the 331 nailed down, his field workers report to headquarters that there is a block of 100 odd unbranded and stray delegates in the western plains and Rocky Mountain states which will be corralled safe in the Kerr log cabin, come the convention.

DELEGATES FEW, FAR BETWEEN

Unfortunately, delegates in this range country are about as sparse as the population. A whole lot of territory is covered, but even though eight big western states should account for Senator Kerr, they still wouldn't give him many convention votes. Not enough, anyway.

Among the possibilities on which Senator Kerr's hopes arise are these: Idaho—eight of 12 votes for Kerr, Dan Cavanaugh, Democratic national committeeman, is a Kerr backer.

Utah—20 delegates with 12 votes, all uncommitted. Grant MacFarlane, former state chairman, is for Kerr.

Wyoming—10 delegates, uncommitted, operating under unit rule. Sen. Lester Hunt will head the delegation.

North Dakota—nine of 16 delegates, each with a half vote, are on the original Kerr-for-President committee.

Washington—Kerr returns to Seattle June 26 and hopes to have at least 10 out of 22 delegates.

Montana—Another unit rule state, with 12 votes. Governor John Bonner, a Kerr supporter, and Sen. Jim Murray head the delegation.

Kansas—Kerr has the only two pledged delegates in the 16 votes which will be cast under the unit rule, and he hopes for all.

Senator Kerr will meet Colorado delegates at Golden on June 27 and attend a Missouri state rally at Kansas City next day.

Join Youngsters in Their Play As Companion, Not Spectator

Don't always be just a spectator to your children's fun if you really want to enjoy them. Join right in and have fun with them, learning as they learn, playing as they play, exploring as they explore.

Fathers seem to know this secret for enjoying children better than mothers.

But it works for mothers, too. This summer don't take your children to the swimming pool and sit on a bench beside the pool, the way so many mothers do, watching your children have fun. Get in there with them and have some fun yourself. Even if you don't know how to swim—you can learn.

When one of your children gets interested in a hobby, share his fun by learning something about it yourself. Instead of sitting back and saying, "That is very interesting, Johnny," let go and really let yourself GET interested.

HELP CHILDREN FIND ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

When your children ask for information, and what you can tell them on a subject is scanty, help them get the information they want instead of putting them off with vague answers. You'll be learning as much as they are, and learning is fun.

In short, if you really want to enjoy your children come down off your onlooker's perch and join them. Don't be so self-consciously a mother. Be a friend, a companion, a sharer of fun.

That's the only real way to enjoy your children, to join in their interests and to share your own with them.

The "mama" sitting beside the pool while her children swim is doing her duty, being a mother who sees to it that her children have a good time. The mother who is right in there swimming, too, is being a companion and having fun herself.

Describes Early Days At School For Deaf

The reunion of the Illinois School for the Deaf alumni association commemorating the 75th anniversary of the association was brought to a close Sunday after four days of business sessions and social functions.

Saturday's highlight was the banquet which was held in the gymnasium with most of the entertainment being held in the auditorium.

John M. Tubergen, 35 of Forest Park was the toastmaster. The Rev. N. P. Uhlig pronounced the invocation.

Mrs. Emilie Cunningham, '05 of Peoria gave a rendition in signs.

Oldest Member Present
Special recognition was given Miss Annie M. Roper, '84 of Alton, who was the oldest person at the reunion. Miss Roper has not missed an alumni reunion at ISD since her first one which was in 1887.

An appropriate gift was presented to Supt. and Mrs. Daniel T. Cloud as a token of appreciation of Dr. Cloud's 23 years as superintendent of ISD.

Mrs. Doris B. Orman of the ISD faculty delivered in signs the poem "Mizpah."

Mrs. Daisy T. Fawcner, '00 of West

Superintendent Drew $250

Mrs. Foreman then read the letter her grandfather received that summer from the superintendent of the Illinois School for the Deaf, Thomas

Officer, offering him a position as instructor in the school which at that time was two years old. The offer was accepted at a salary of $250 per year with maintenance as stated in the letter. Mr. Wait held his position as teacher until his death in 1882.

In closing Mrs. Foreman said: "These are times when our country is larger and stronger than ever before in its history. It is also in greater danger than before. It needs each of us to be a good and thoughtful citizen. That means we need to do our share to make the government follow the will of the people. We need to be alert about candidates and issues. We need to vote regularly and wisely. And we need to keep in touch with the people who are chosen to represent us in the government."

"That is true of every citizen of the United States. It is even more true of those of us who are interested in the Illinois School for the Deaf. If we are active citizens and know people in the parties or in public office, we can help this institution to be strong and well-managed. We can all recall times when hearing friends have rendered that kind of service for the deaf. So can the deaf gathered together in this association give service to this school. I believe that it was because of the interest and support which you all together could give this school that my grandfather and his friends worked to start this association. I am happy to have come to meet with you during this celebration. I am sure the founders would be proud of you."

Students from Mary Jane's Dance studio of this city presented a program which was enjoyed by all.

The Rev. N. P. Uhlig using as his text: "Keep the landmarks that our fathers have set" had charge of religious services in the auditorium Sunday morning. The collection was for the Illinois Home for the Aged and Infirm Deaf in Evanston.

WHEN YOU TRY POWER STEERING... HERE'S WHERE TO COME FIRST!

You've heard about it and read about it. Now, if you haven't felt what Power Steering does for you, we invite you to try it first in a Chrysler New Yorker... where you will find full-time (not partial) Power Steering!

What happens is this...

You handle the steering wheel in normal fashion. But 4/5 of all the work is done for you by hydraulic power, constantly at your command. Also, you turn the wheel 1/3 less distance now for every maneuver... the feeling you get of utter control is as wonderful as it is new.

Even at a standstill you can turn the wheel easily. Now, parking is shorn of its troubles (and fatigue!)... and you can negotiate traffic, awkward drives, and garage doors precisely and with ease.

You can double the longest day's drive you've ever known... end up free from arm and shoulder strain. Rough roads, soft shoulders, snow, mud?... the power that helps you steer now prevents the car's wheels from "steering back" at you. The course you set is held, at any speed, till you want it changed. Yet, with this 5-times greater control, "wheel feel" is always the same.

Why not come try it? Learn for yourself why growing thousands of motorists say they'll never be without Full-time Power Steering from now on. Drive a Chrysler... and Learn the Difference!

Knight And Christison Nuptials At Church

Newlyweds To Establish Home In Washington

In mid-afternoon Sunday at the Central Christian church Miss Vivian Joan Christison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Christison of 756 West Douglas Avenue became the bride of Clement Vedder Knight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clement L. Knight of White Hall.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Millie Kent offered an organ prelude of nuptial selections and accompanied Franklin Auwarter who sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Rev. Leslie Heuston conducted the ceremony at the church altar which was decorated with palms, ferns, lilies and lighted candelabra. Miss Ann and Jean Knight, sisters of the bridegroom, wearing floor length gowns of pink and blue organza, lighted the candles before the service.

The bride was attended by Miss Lulu Mae Robinson as maid of honor. Her two additional attendants were Mrs. Edward Christison, her sister-in-law and Mrs. Howard Choate, her sister. Four year old Sharon Choate, niece of the bride, was flower girl and David Daniel, age 3, was the ring bearer.

Robert McCullen of White Hall, who is stationed with the army in California, was the best man. Ushers were George Souza, cousin of the bridegroom, Howard Choate, brother-in-law of the bride and Edward and Roy Christison, brothers of the bride.

Mr. Christison gave his daughter in marriage. Taffeta and lace was used in fashioning the elaborate bridal gown which had a Chantilly lace yoke with sweetheart neckline with two panels of lace extending down the front of the bodice and encircling the waist. The back lace yoke carried out the sweetheart point. Full leg-o-mutton taffeta sleeves formed a point over the wrists. Chantilly lace panels extended in two sections down the front of the full skirt and in the back and bordered the taffeta train. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion, bordered in Chantilly lace, was held secure to a tiara of seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of white carnations centered with white orchids.

The attendants gowns were styled identical of lace and net over taffeta. Miss Robinson in blue, Mrs. Christison wearing yellow and Mrs. Choate in orchid. The full double net skirts over taffeta were topped with strapless lace bodices over which were worn lace bolero lace jackets, high necked and with brief sleeves. They wore wristlet corsages of gardenias. Pastel tinted linen pumps matched each of the attendant's gowns.

The little flower girl wore floor length white organza with a nose-gay of pastel blossoms attached to her full skirt. The ring bearer was attired in a white linen suit and carried a white satin pillow for the betrothal rings.

Both mothers of the couple wore navy blue with blue and white accessories and corsages of yellow roses.

Bride's Parents Entertain
A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The home was generously decorated with many floral arrangements. The serving table was covered with a hand crocheted cloth and appointed in silver and crystal. The three tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was cut and served by Mrs. Fay Daniels Jr., Mrs. Charles Robinson served punch and Miss Mary Hart assisted. Miss Jean Little registered the guests.

The newlyweds left for a honeymoon to an undisclosed destination. The bride wore for traveling a white nylon street dress with a faint blue figure. She chose white accessories to correspond with her small white straw cloche. The orchid from her bridal bouquet completed her outfit. After their trip the couple will return to Jacksonville before leaving for the east where they will reside at 1367 "K" Street SE, Washington, D. C.

The bride is a graduate of the Jacksonville high school, class of 1950 and has been employed by the FBI in Washington, D. C., for the past year and one-half. Pulling rabbits out of a hat used to be just a parlor game, but amateur magicians now are turning their talents to other fields. A president of a large baking company, who was an amateur magician, hit the road recently with 500 pounds of stage props and, at sales meetings in each of the company's branch cities, he put on a magic show. He made a loaf of bread in an old wrapper disappear and, a few moments later, pulled the curtains aside to reveal a fancy display featuring the bread with a new wrapper. After the show, the "new look" bread sold like magic. Others who use magic as an attention-getter are dentists, doctors, teachers, safety lecturers and public speakers.

LIFEGUARDS WORK, TOO

Long Beach, Calif. — Long Beach lifeguards don't spend all their time sun bathing, charming pretty girls and saving an occasional floundering human.

They also must record ocean temperatures and surf conditions. Each day, a guard takes three thermometer readings and a gander at the Pacific's mood from Long Beach's Horseshoe Pier. Local newspapers and radio stations pass the information along to the public, says Roy J. (Dutch) Miller, lifeguard captain.

Squires, Elevators Score Victories In Softball Tournament

Games Tonight
Springfield One Day Cleaners vs. Cozy Dogs (7 p.m.)
Dixons vs. Waverly (8:30 p.m.)

The Squires and Lewis Elevator moved into the quarter-finals of the Invitational softball tournament by scoring victories over Rogersons Coal and the Merchants on the Nichols Park diamond last night.

The Squires thrashed Rogersons Coal 16-9 in a free-scoring curtain-raiser. The highly touted Lewis Elevator club was given lots of trouble by the young Merchant nine before coming through with a four-run sixth inning to win by an 8-1 margin.

The Squires played the first game with only eight men. Jack Sellers and Tom Murphy handled the three outfield positions adequately in this novel arrangement.

Magner was the winning pitcher, though he allowed 11 hits. Crouse, Seymour and Darush alternated on the mound for Rogersons. Both teams' pitchers were plagued with wildness.

The nightcap surprised most of the 350 fans who watched the second night tournament action. The Merchants, a "B" league club, were fired-up and clearly intended to win the game.

Although Merchant pitcher Ron Campbell performed nobly, he was overshadowed by the veteran Jack McNeely who spun one-hit ball for the Elevators.

Campbell distinguished himself by retiring Lewis hitters on 4 pitches in the fifth.

Only hit garnered off McNeely was by Hal Taylor in the fifth inning. The Merchants scored in the sixth on an error and wild pitch.

The Elevator hitters interspersed some bingles with Merchant errors to score doubles in the first and fourth innings, then broke loose with four tallies in the sixth to clinch the contest.

Indians Boast Three Leaders In Star Poll

Chicago, June 23 — (P) — Third baseman Al Rosen took over leadership at that position in the All-Star baseball poll today, giving Cleveland three front runners in the race for the American league's starting lineup for the game to be played July 8 in Philadelphia.

Rosen's 374,818 votes gave him the lead over Boston's George Kell, who had 361,302. The 27-year-old Cleveland slugger never has appeared in the All-Star game.

His Indian teammates leading at their positions were second baseman Bobby Avila and left fielder Dale Mitchell. Avila's total of 367,514 kept him ahead of the Chicago White Sox' Nellie Fox, who had 341,806. Mitchell had polled 359,168 to lead another White Sox player, Minnie Minoso, who had 288,523.

The balloting opened June 6 and will end at midnight Friday.

Therefore, we say beware to you favored teams. It's been threatening for too long. We're going to get some upsets in the first round. What would we consider upsets in the remaining four games? That's easy. Cozy Dogs over One Day Cleaners of Springfield, Waverly over Dixons, New Berlin over Alton Dominos and Murrayville over the House of Clay.

Softball clubs are showing a spirit and enthusiasm on the field this season that was lacking last year. Armed with this great equalizer, the younger ball clubs of the city are giving the "old pros" quite a run. The day is not too far distant when these younger teams will take over the driver's seat in local softball.

Several young pitchers are developing quite rapidly. Ron Campbell is a fine example of this. Don Reynolds and Don Hazelrigg are two more.

Speaking of fine young pitchers, we received a letter yesterday from one of the best who ever performed at Nichols Park. He's Tommy Rimbey, formerly of the Murrayville nine and now a fighting Corporal in Korea. Tommy pens that he expects to be home in August and is in shape to pitch. Murrayville may have the youngest in time for the Sectional August 3-10.

Tommy, who also sent in his All-Star baseball selections, writes that he tossed a softball game recently while on combat reserve status and scored a two-hit shutout. He'll be welcomed by Verba Spencer and the gang.

FAN BREEZES

BY BOB MERRIS

Old man upset is lurking about Nichols Park this week. Softball fans who are taking in the big Invitational tournament have missed seeing a couple of surprising twists by a cat's whisker already and the fun has just begun.

The Merchants battled Lewis Elevator right down to the wire last night before one had inning ruined their chances. The Hilltoppers gave Greenfield a good Sunday night until a mistake allowed the Greene county boys to have their big inning and clinch the victory. State Hospital's comely bat with the Macomb Moose on the same night followed a like pattern.

Therefore, we say beware to you favored teams. It's been threatening for too long. We're going to get some upsets in the first round. What would we consider upsets in the remaining four games? That's easy. Cozy Dogs over One Day Cleaners of Springfield, Waverly over Dixons, New Berlin over Alton Dominos and Murrayville over the House of Clay.

Greenfield, Macomb Win Opening Games In Softball Tourney

Games Tonight
Rogerson Coal vs. Squires (7 p.m.)
Lewis Elevator vs. Merchants (8:30 p.m.)

Big Bill Boyer indicated that he's going to be hard to get along with this week when he pitched the Macomb Moose to a 6-1 victory over State Hospital as the Invitational softball tournament at Nichols Park got underway Sunday night.

Greenfield clipped the young Hilltoppers club 6-2 in the curtain-raiser Sunday night when the "A" league club scored four runs in the bottom of the sixth to break up a nip and tuck ball game.

Macomb hitters gave Boyer a four run cushion in the third inning by smashing out four hits off State Hospital starting twirler Paul Devlin. Earl Lindsey relieved Melvin.

But the big Beardstown pitcher didn't need that many as he moved down batter after batter. State Hospital scored its only run in the sixth inning when Campbell singled advanced on a base on balls, and came home on a fielder's choice.

Hospital hitters touched Boyer for five hits, but they were well spaced. Jim Clinton wasted a booming triple in the first inning.

The Hilltoppers showed surprising strength in the first game and had Greenfield on the ropes for five innings.

Topper catcher Jim Beck rapped the only home run of the game in the top of the sixth to knot the score 2-2. However, Greenfield came back to score four big ones in the bottom of that inning and clinch the game.

Yanks Strengthen Hold On Lead, Tip Brownies 14-10

St. Louis, June 23 — (P) — The New York Yankees trailed twice, but broke loose a 17-hit attack, including two consecutive homers by Joe Collins, to strengthen their hold on first place in the American league with a 14 to 10 triumph over the St. Louis Browns tonight.

Red Sox Crush Tigers 12-6 On Bingle Binge

Detroit, June 23 — (P) — The Boston Red Sox, happily slapping singles through the Detroit Tiger infield, scored 11 runs in a wild fourth inning to crush the Tigers 12-6 today and slip into second place in the American league race.

Rookie right-hander Ivan Delock in 8 2/3 innings gave up a homer to Walt Dropo and seven other hits in hurling his fourth victory against three defeats.

M-O-V Baseball Manager Fired

Mattoon, Ill., June 23 — (P) — Player-manager Wally Dumkovich has been fired by last-place Mattoon of the Mississippi-Ohio Valley League. Mattoon club officials announced the move Sunday. Second-baseman Chuck Topovich was named acting manager.

Officials also named Bill Bonall, Mattoon high school tennis coach, as the club's new general manager. He succeeds Johnny Sheahan who resigned last week.

The victory was Cronin's 12th in 13 starts this season. The game was played in Wrigley Field before 3,800.

Sugar Ray Takes Favorite Role For Fight Wednesday

New York, June 23 — (P) — Sugar Ray Robinson took over the favorite role today as light rain forced a two-day postponement of his light heavyweight title fight with champion Joey Maxim until Wednesday at Yankee Stadium.

Strong support for Sugar Ray the middleweight king, developed after the weigh-in and there were indications that the washout would drive the price higher, past 13 to 10.

Robinson would have given away 141 pounds to Maxim if they had fought tonight. Now they have to do it all over again Wednesday with a second official weigh-in.

The fight could not be held Tuesday night because the New York Giants play a night doubleheader with Cincinnati. The Giants and Yanks have a reciprocal no-conflict or radio of the Robinson-Maxim agreement.

Pal Joey from Cleveland came in just under the class limit at 174. The sleek Robinson weighed 160 closed circuit.

"We checked all the forecasters around," he said. "And nobody gave us any hope of a break in the weather. If it should rain Wednesday, we will run Thursday. We've got about $250,000 in advance sales."

There will be no home television or radio of the Robinson-Maxim bout in the United States. A net-work in the United States in 25 cities will carry the show on a theater-TV just under the class limit at 174.

The Little League Dodgers rose up and pounded the Cubs 16-1 in an action-packed bout on the State

The Dodgers scored in every inning and climaxed the bingle parade with a five-run final frame.

Jerry Lewis pitched for the winners and allowed just two hits. He twirled a no-hitter last week.

Cub Owners Treat Team To Dinner

Philadelphia, June 23 — (P) — The seven-game losing streak of the Chicago Cubs isn't bothering the club's owners, and they don't want it to bother the players, either.

Taking advantage of a rain-out game with the Philadelphia Phillies today, management took the entire ball club to dinner.

Wid Matthews, the Cubs' director of personnel, flew in specially from Chicago so he could pick up the dinner check. A team spokesman said management wanted to assure the players that it is behind the team, despite the losing streak.</

Death in the Sierras

By Doris Hudson Moss

XIII

THE gold suddenly became inconsequential. Life itself was the stake we played for and to this man who disguised himself in the accepted garb of the mountaineer, who hid behind a mask, our lives quite obviously would mean nothing at all.

Even Sergeant Duncan seemed respectful of the nearness of the gray steel gun barrel. Ordell was pale and tense, his kind blue eyes dull with fear.

So David slowly but obediently lifted the quaint, rotting little trunk from the earth.

"Lift the lid," whispered the masked figure, his whispering voice thick with excitement.

David laid his hand upon the latch to obey the command.

I had forgotten Susie. When we dismounted she ran after a scolding squirrel but I, intent on discovery of the treasure, forgot her. But when she heard the pistol shot, she came tearing back, sensing danger.

As the big dog came over the high ground beyond the granite rocks, she saw the figure with the revolver. Silently she poised her big body for action, terribly powerful she crouched behind the masked man, her fangs bared wickedly, her 85 pounds of furious strength waited for a perfect attack and then sprang mercilessly at our masked assailant.

The figure whirled with gun leveled as he heard Susie's low and savage snarl—but not in time.

THE dog leaped to kill, her wide jaws searching for the man's throat. The force of that powerful attack made the revolver go off, throwing man and dog to earth. Its bullet hit a rock and ricocheted close to me.

Revolver in hand, both David and Duncan leaped to the rescue. But the rolling mass of man and dog was too entangled.

"Don't shoot," I begged. "You'll kill her."

Morgan County Helps To Give Senator Taft 10 More Chicago Votes

Republicans of Morgan county and west central Illinois Monday lent their strength to the move that put 10 more votes in the Taft-for-President camp. Delegates at the Illinois state convention held in Springfield also adopted a platform accusing Democrats of corruption and incompetence.

Selection of the 10 delegates at large, all supporting Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, completed the list of GOP national convention delegates. Taft is backed by 49 of the 50 delegates elected in the Illinois primary.

Supporters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who had demanded half of the 10 at large delegates, made no move on the convention floor to upset the selections. One pro-Eisenhower man was named an alternate delegate.

On the presidential side, the state meeting was completely a Taft show. No formal endorsement of his candidacy was made, however.

Pictures of the Ohio senator were displayed, a tambourine band whirling it up for Taft paraded through the convention hall and thousands of delegates cheered.

SOFTBALL FANS

Admission for the Invitational tournament being conducted at Nichols Park this week is 25 cents. Children under 12 admitted free.

of Taft buttons appeared on coat lapels.

Despite 100 degree temperatures, between 5,000 and 6,000 party followers packed the state armory for the four hour convention program.

A parade to the armory preceded the actual business session.

Three candidates were nominated for University of Illinois trustees—Park Livingston of LaGrange, Mrs. Doris S. Holt of Flora and Cushman Bissell of Chicago. Bissell replaced Thomas W. Samuels of Decatur, who had been recommended by an alumni committee.

The Republican platform hit at the federal and state Democratic administrations and declared that the country is confronted with a "Moral Crisis."

"This crisis springs from fading faith in the integrity and competence of those who administer the national government," the document said.

"It springs from the corruption and corruption, which is the inevitable result when a political party has been too long in power."

Election of a Republican president and Congress, the platform added, would give to the nation "that kind of competent, honest and efficient government which has been so traditional of the Republican party."

The platform charged that Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson and his Democratic state administration "have permitted, abetted and must share full responsibility for misfeasance and nonfeasance in the discharge of their public duties."

Outrageous Spending

William G. Stratton, Republican nominee for governor who gave the chief convention address, said the record of Stevenson's administration is one of "outrageous spending, scandalous corruption and failure to keep solemn promises."

He said its "most terrible" feature was the West Frankfort mine explosion last December which killed 120 men.

"It was failure to enforce laws on the Illinois statute books that caused this worst disaster of modern times in Illinois," Stratton asserted.

Stratton's speech and the platform mirrored each other on state issues.

The Republican policy statement pledged to return the state administration "to a basis of sound economy" and to provide for "an adequate highway system."

Horse Meat Scandal

It also promised to maintain a strong Department of Agriculture, where enforcement broke down recently as a result of the horsemeat scandal.

The platform called for reconsideration of the 1951 law sharply boosting truck license fees with a view to "removing the inequities and the inconsistencies." Revenue from the fees are used for highway improvements.

Other planks dealt with aid to cities, labor, schools, aid to needy, civil rights, airports and crime.

Stratton in his talk scoffed at Stevenson's assertions that quick action was taken to break up the horsemeat racket and to clamp down on cigarette tax stamp counterfeiting.

The Republican leader declared that cigarette revenues were siphoned off for two years "and yet my opponent now says that he put a stop to it promptly."

Stratton said the state is lagging in highway reconstruction, loading up payrolls, collecting $60,000,000 more a year in taxes and spending at an unprecedented rate.

Drafting, Demoralizing

The convention keynote, Mrs. Phyllis Stewart Schlafly of Godfrey, rapped the Democratic national administration which she said has been "demoralizing our children by bad examples, drafting our men and confiscating our family income."

Mrs. Schlafly is the Republican nominee for Congress from the 24th district.

Other speakers included U. S. Senator Everett M. Dirksen and members of the Republican state ticket.

The 10 Illinois delegates-at-large to the Republican national convention chosen Monday at the GOP state convention were:

William G. Stratton; U. S. Senator Everett M. Dirksen; Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of the Chicago Tribune; Euclid Taylor, Chicago; former Senator C. Wayland Brooks; Vernon L. Nickell, state school superintendent; Congressman Leslie Arends of Melvin; Mrs. Winifred Henry, head of the Illinois Federation of Women's Republican Clubs; Dr. Douglas Stratton, national committee treasurer, and James S. Kemper, former national treasurer.

Gail B. Ranson of Jacksonville led the 20th district balloting as chairman of the Congressional district.

Sheriff Earl Hembrough was the chairman of the Morgan delegates.

Miss Mary Elva Sherwin, Donald Butcher Married

United Sunday At Winchester Christian Church

Glasgow—In a Sunday afternoon ceremony, Miss Mary Elva Sherwin and Donald Butcher were united in marriage at the First Christian church in Winchester.

The parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Sherwin, who reside south of Glasgow on Winchester route 2. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Anthony Butcher of Chillicothe, Mo., and the late Anthony Butcher.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles Leitz of Winchester. He performed the double ring ceremony at 2:30 o'clock before an altar banked with palms, baskets of gladioli and lighted candles.

Preceding the service, Lowell Colker sang "Always," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." Gary Stuart played the nuptial prelude and accompanied the vocalist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her wedding gown, with its long chapel-length train, was made entirely of silk chantilly lace. It was fashioned with a standing roll collar and long sleeves, tapering to points over the wrists.

Tiny satin-covered buttons on the bodice descended from neckline to waist. The gown was made by the bride's sister, Miss Winifred Sherwin.

Her fingertip veil of nylon net was held in place by a close-fitting cap covered with satin and lace to match the dress. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and stepmother's white roses.

Dale Beier of Kansas City, Mo., attended the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Jesse E. Sherwin and John L. Sherwin, brothers of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Sherwin chose a blue shadow print nylon dress with navy and white accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom wore a blue and white nylon shirt with black accessories. Her corsage was also of white carnations.

A reception in the church basement immediately followed the ceremony. The table was decorated with white candles. The bride and groom cut the three-tiered wedding cake, which was topped with a miniature wedding bell and lily-of-the-valley.

Misses Winifred and Wilma Sherwin, sisters of the bride, served cake and punch to about 70 guests. Miss Dorothy Hanback was in charge of the guest register.

The couple departed on their honeymoon to an undisclosed destination. For traveling the bride wore a blue linen suit with white accessories and a corsage of white roses from her wedding bouquet. Upon their return they will reside at Chillicothe, Mo.

The bride is a graduate of Roodhouse high school and Chillicothe Business College. She has been employed in Springfield as a bookkeeper since last September.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Chillicothe high school and served in Germany in World War II. He is engaged in the grocery business at Chillicothe.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Leake, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Leake, Mrs. Lucy Hardy and Mrs. Grace Leake of Jacksonville, Warren Ransom and daughter, Evelyn, of Pittsfield, Barbara Hunt of Spirit Lake, Ia., and other relatives and friends from nearby communities.

Efforts of railroad workers to extinguish the blaze proved futile, and the Chapin fire department was called. Chief Waters and four firemen, Fred Harris, Floyd Hymes, Russell Anderson and Odell Woodward, answered the alarm and quickly put out the fire.

The new fire truck carries 500 gallons of water. There was none available at the scene.

Heat from the blaze was so intense that the rails were badly warped and had to be replaced along with a few creosoted ties. Rail traffic was tied up for a short time.

Had the bridge been destroyed, all train traffic on the Wabash would have been halted for extensive repairs. Railroad officials praised the Chapin volunteers for their efforts and for the efficient manner in which the fire was fought.

Chicagans Remember Kindness At Winchester

Winchester—Edward L. Kraus of Chicago paid a visit to Winchester Tuesday evening to deliver an oration and a dozen roses, tokens of his appreciation for kindness shown him and his sister 30 years ago.

Many residents of Winchester will remember the visit of a group of some 35 children from a crowded Chicago tenement district to Winchester 30 years ago this August.

Winchester families responded to an appeal from the Chicago welfare agency to provide a two week vacation in the country for a group of children from Chicago.

The late Guy Fawn was the leader in the project and the entire community responded. The children were met by their hosts in Springfield and the two weeks they spent in Winchester were packed with a full program, typical of small town hospitality.

Few of the children had been outside of Chicago and they took full advantage of the country atmosphere.

Businessmen Cooperated

The local movie, the services of the local photographer and all facilities of the community were offered to them without charge. Surrounding farmers invited the children to spend a day on the farm.

At the end of the weeks they all boarded the train for Chicago, brimful of country friendliness, with a telegram from all the other good things to eat that went with them.

Kraus was one of this group of children.

Kraus' sister, Mrs. Lillian Zalc of Chicago, had been entertained at the home of late Oliver Fynn and Mrs. Fynn, and Kraus called on Mrs. Fynn and presented her with a dozen roses in appreciation of her kindness.

Mrs. Fynn has kept in touch with Mrs. Zalc since she visited in their home. She receives a Mother's Day and Christmas greeting from the Chicago woman each year.

Kraus stated that while serving in the Navy during World War II he frequently received presents from Mrs. Hainsfurther.

He stated that the people of Winchester will never know what the two weeks spent here meant to him and his sister, that they truly were two of the happiest weeks they had spent.

Kraus is employed as an electrical engineer for the Corn Products company and his sister holds a secretarial position in Chicago.

If this is done it will not take very long to make our tabulation and thus people who have other plans will be able to get away from the meeting very quickly."
